

DESIGN WEEK / January 2006

Misha Black award for Rolls Royce chief

Professor Geoff Kirk, chief design engineer of civil aerospace for Rolls Royce, has been nominated to receive the Sir Misha Black Medal this year, for his long-term services to design education. Central Saint Martins College of Art and Design will also pick up an award at the presentation ceremony on 15 March, for its research centre specialising in design against crime.